Railroads however, he said, have reached their peak in development, for although the United States has only six per cent of the land in the world, and six per cent of the population, it has one third of the transportation systems, and have been indispensable in the war effort.

Proof that each employee is doing his job one hundred per cent is shown, Mr. Bliss pointed out, in the fact that the government has not taken over the running of the railroads as it did in the World War I. Besides tracing the development of the railroads the speaker also outlined how industry and railroads are indispensable to each other and spoke briefly on the post-war plans after J-E day, when the passenger cars will be built with larger windows and the seats will be placed longitudinally.

Julius Streicher, No. 1 Nazi Enemy Of Jews, Captured by U. S. Officer

By ALVIN J. STEINKOPF

BERCHTESGADEN, May 23 (AP)—

Julius Streicher, the Nazis' violent No. 1 Jew-baiter, was captured today by a Jewish officer from New York. Hitler's unkempt, bald-headed anti-Semitic leader was hiding away on a farm tucked in the Bavarian hills.

The once-strutting ex-publisher of the anti-Jewish Der Stuermer, pretended to pretend he was an eccentric artist.

His captor was Major Henry Plitt, of New York, and three companions of the American One Hundred and First Airborne Division, when he arrived here after a rough forty-mile ride, Streicher, boarded and scrappily, stumbled from a jeep and limped slightly.

It was Streicher who once likened Hitler to Christ—and who for many years ruled Franconia with the long whip he always carried.

With the capture of Streicher, Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop remained among the top men in the Nazi hierarchy yet to be caught.

It was announced here that Gen. Ritter Franz von Epp, former governor of Bavaria, also had been captured recently.

Streicher was found on a farm near Waldkirch, a little village in an area thick with American soldiers of the One Hundred and First airbone and the Forty-second divisions.

Lewis Ort Gets Army Discharge

Lewis J. Ort, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Ort, LaVale, a veteran of three and a half years of overseas service in the Central Pacific area, returned to this country eighteen days ago and was honorably discharged from the army at Fort George G. Meade last Sunday.

Ort, who held the rank of staff sergeant at the time of his discharge, entered the army February 17, 1941, and trained at Camp Pendleton, Calif., before going overseas shortly after Pearl Harbor was attacked in December, 1941.

He went to the Central Pacific as a member of a heavy artillery outfit, and remained overseas until January 24, when he came home on a twenty-day furlough. Although he was reluctant to tell all about overseas service, he said that he had visited "about every island" in the Central Pacific.

A graduate of Allegany high school, Ort attended the Fleischmann school of baking chemistry in New York city and acted as manager of the Ort Brothers bakery here until he entered the army. He plans to work at both the local bakery and the Ort Brothers bakery in Midland in the future.

N. Word from Lewis

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, could not be reached at once but associates expected him to comment.

Anderson's appointment will make certain extension of price control legislation, in the opinion of Senator Johnson (D-Colo). Some threatening clouds had gathered around the legislation. The Senate Banking and Currency subcommittee handling it has scheduled a meeting for Friday.

"Anderson certainly is an able man," Johnson commented. "He'll storm around and get the job done."

Selection of Tom C. Clark as attorney general was hailed by a fellow Texan, Speaker Rayburn (D) as "a fine appointment. He is an able warrior. He will make an outstanding attorney general."

A Real Dilemma Is Faced by O'Connor

GOVERNOR O'CONOR certainly has been put on the spot by the effort of William Curran, Baltimore attorney and Democratic party leader, to become attorney general of the state as successor to William G. Walsh, of this city, who recently resigned and whose resignation was reluctantly accepted by the governor.

The two horns of the dilemma facing the governor are easily recognized by all conversant with political affairs of the Free State.

On the one hand, there are several weighty facts. One is that Mr. Curran is the big man behind the scenes in Baltimore city Democratic politics. Another is that he threw the weight of his Baltimore city organization behind O'Connor in the last gubernatorial campaign after the two Democratic factions had made peace. Thus the factor of political gratitude enters the equation. Still another fact is that, as James J. Lindsay, Senate president, has stated, Curran is "a very excellent lawyer and unquestionably has the ability to handle the job."

But, on the other hand, there is the long and somewhat dubious record as a Democratic machine politician of this self-propelled candidate for the appointment. It is not a background relished by a considerable number of party members who cannot see in the old-time manipulations of the Curran machine anything consonant with the democratic idea, inasmuch as it has smacked, quite odiously at times, of a political dictatorship operated for the benefit of the chosen few rather than in the interests of the party as a whole.

In short, appointment of Mr. Curran, in a strict political sense, would be a liability rather than an asset for the O'Connor administration, which can obviously have better public presentation with Mr. Curran behind the scenes than out in the glare of the official footlights.

What to do? Well, of course, it is a problem for the governor to solve. He naturally should want to retire from the governorship with as clean a record as possible, and it is the understanding that he considers his present term the last. But looking over partisan considerations and at the functioning of the state administration as a whole, it would seem to be a good out for the governor to name as Walsh's successor Hall Hammond, the present chief deputy attorney general, thus following a tradition long been followed in such instances. There are, of course, other able Democratic lawyers who would fit nicely into the job, but there again would arise further possible factional difficulties the naming of Hammond would avoid.

Republicans sympathize with Governor O'Connor in his dilemma, but wish him well in reaching a solution of it.

Voluntary Censorship Is Again Justified

SINCE it is one of those "now-it-can-be-told" things, the disclosures about the driftings of unmanned Japanese balloons with bombs across the Pacific to the western coast of this country furnishes another instance justifying the system of voluntary censorship agreed upon for the war emergency.

The Office of Censorship has noted that editors and broadcasters co-operated splendidly with it and did a "remarkably effective job of keeping all details from the enemy." And that is a fact. The fact that these balloons were landing in western coast states was known, of course, by the localities concerned when they were first detected. But they needed censorship requests meticulously and the news about the balloons when given to the country came as a distinct surprise to most people.

Editors and broadcasters knew about the balloons many months ago. The Office of Censorship as long ago as January 4 sent a confidential note to them about these balloons with the request that there be no publication for the reason that it involved military security and would aid the enemy. This was followed by another confidential note under date of March 28, which noted that the balloons were still coming over but that, fortunately, they had caused no loss of life or serious damage, although the possibility was noted that sooner or later such loss or damage might occur. And the Japs were busily fishing through Radio Tokyo for information enabling them to guide better this attack on American life and homes.

Release of the information now is sensible for the purpose stated, this being a warning to the public to avoid handling the landed bombs.

All in all, the voluntary censorship can be set down as a distinct success adding new luster to the integrity and patriotism of newsmen of the country, and quite sufficient unto the demands of military necessity.

A Crucial Year For Automobiles

ALL INDICATIONS are that the next twelve months will be the most crucial of the war for automobile transportation in the United States. Motorists who can hardly wait to buy a new car should assimilate these facts:

The announcement of the Petroleum Administration for War that it expects shortly to authorize a substantial increase in gasoline rations for holders of A cards.

The increased output of tires for civilian motorists, "the War Production Board's estimate," on the basis of available information, "that 200,000 passenger cars will be produced late this year and that production can be stepped up to 400,000 cars in the first three months of 1946.

The expected increase in gasoline usage is expected to be one gallon a week, which would permit every car owner to drive approximately two more miles daily, but the allotment of new tires is only for C and B ration holders. It will be a long time before new cars are available for anyone except drivers with high priorities.

That is to say, the nation's A ration drivers, who are alleged to number sixty-eight per cent of all motorists, can get a trifle more use out of their cars shortly but have no prospects of tire or car replacements. How they use their cars is therefore important. How C and B drivers use their cars is also important, because even in their cases there will be no means for early replacements to go around.

In line with the situation is the urgent appeal of John L. Colver, special director of the WPB rubber programs, for strict observance of the thirty-five-mile-an-hour speed limit in the warm months ahead in order to save tire wear.

Colver said that production of new tires will continue to run behind demand and that it will be impossible to meet military and essential civilian transportation needs for many months. He pointed out that tire wear is fifty per cent greater at fifty miles an hour than at thirty-five. He asked governors of all states to urge civilians to rededicate themselves to the thirty-five-mile limit.

In view of the need for keeping all available cars on the road to prevent transportation breakdowns, it is a rededication all motorists ought to be willing and eager to make.

Japs Have Only One Way to Peace

REPORTS that Japan is fishing for peace terms short of unconditional surrender do not fit in with the ferocity of war in the Pacific. While it is to be assumed the Japs will fight with all their resources, now that they are alone, they can hardly expect that their recent tactics will win additional consideration.

The Franklin episode, among others, will serve to steel every American heart against the enemy. Loss of Okinawa is another step in the downfall of Japan, a fact which Tokyo is quick to realize.

It is an expensive victory, but when American planes are based there air war against the Japanese home land will be intensified many fold.

The American high command has warned repeatedly that this preliminary process will be costly.

No peace rumor seems to have substantial basis in fact. It would be the Japanese way to talk peace while making ready to fight still harder. It has not been forgotten that there was a Jap delegation in Washington, presumably to negotiate a treaty, while Jap planes were bombing Pearl Harbor. Certain elements in Japan may be war weary and eager for peace. Tokyo admits the situation is critical.

In view of all these factors, peace rumors will persist, but peace will come only when the terms of unconditional surrender have been fully compiled with.

Heading for More World Trouble

SHOULD Tito, the Yugoslav dictator, run true to form, he is headed for that variety of trouble which can involve the world.

Tito is a Slav with a slant that suggests a Balkan bandit. He runs out rivals in Yugoslavia, tied up to Russia and is now attempting to bluff his way to a seat among the world's mighty.

Republicans sympathize with Governor O'Connor in his dilemma, but wish him well in reaching a solution of it.

Editors and broadcasters knew about the balloons many months ago. The Office of Censorship as long ago as January 4 sent a confidential note to them about these balloons with the request that there be no publication for the reason that it involved military security.

And that is a fact. The fact that these balloons were landing in western coast states was known, of course, by the localities concerned when they were first detected. Wife Sorry She Ended Marriage By Writing Lies

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Ours was one of those wartime marriages. We were married only two months when we broke up and he went into the army. We didn't hear from each other until a friend gave me his address and I wrote. He answered. We went together again while he was home on a furlough, and when he returned to his post didn't hear from him for a month, and then he wrote only of good times he was having with the girls.

That made me angry and I sent him a letter full of lies about what I was doing, and that was a year ago and I've never heard from him since. I've lost his address, and as I do love him very much, can you tell me whether I should start up a correspondence again, and where can I get his address?

JEAN D.

As you still love your husband, and the highly colored accounts of things you were NOT DOING made him angry, write immediately and try to patch up your quarrel.

You will be able to get your husband's correct mailing address by writing to Enlisted Personnel, Adjutant General's Office, War Department, Washington 25, D. C. Tell him frankly you were drawing the long bow and trying to match his goings-on with imaginary accounts of your own doings when you wrote. Presumably you have his correct serial number, which will make tracing him easier.

Life with Father

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm 23 years of age, have been earning my living for five years, and have always given half or more of my pay envelope to my family for household expenses.

My father has succeeded in breaking up two friendships with very good young men which promised to lead to engagements. Last night my patience failed completely when a disabled war veteran, an old friend, came to call and was insulted by my father, who asked me, when the boy left, if I couldn't do any better than take up with a lame duck. I was so infuriated I packed a suitcase and spent the night with my girl friend.

Mother has pleaded with me to return and says she has exacted a promise from my father to do better. But as Mother was quite as bad as Father when I had friends at the house, I've about decided not to go back.

REBELLIOUS

Your signature is well chosen and I hope you don't return to the parental home, where an interest in your salary is apparently stronger than an interest in your welfare and happiness.

I've had hundreds of letters from girls such as this. Their friends are insulted when they are received at home, scenes are raised when the girls go out for an evening. Yet these girls are of age and self-supporting. Some parents forget utterly that "springtime is ring-time." And if their girls are not allowed to meet men in the usual way, they go out the back-door, or are likely to grow up and miss the chance of having homes and children of their own.

No Gifts for Jap Prisoners

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a loyal American citizen, although of Japanese ancestry, and was born in this country. My father's brother however is interned in a prisoner-of-war camp, being a Japanese. Would I be permitted to send him a gift package, as I understand such packages are sent to Italian prisoners-of-war?

S.

Regulations covering interned Italian prisoners are different from those which apply to Japanese. Italians do specific work, make certain promises, from which prisoners in Japanese camps are exempt. Under these circumstances, gift packages may not be sent to interred Japanese.

At the same time, nothing that is rationed may be included in packages sent to Italian prisoners.

DO THREE TUBS OF WASHING

AND THEN READ FOR 3 HOURS UNDER YOUR FAVORITE LAMP

ALL FOR ONE KILOWATT HOUR of ELECTRICITY

Besides finding out that a kilowatt hour will do a surprising amount of work, Mrs. McGinty has discovered that there is nothing mysterious about it. She's learned that it's simply a name for a definite quantity of electricity, just as a pound is a name for a certain amount of weight. And just as she thinks of meat in terms of the number of pounds necessary for a meal, so she thinks of electricity in terms of the number of kilowatt hours necessary to run her appliances.

Of course she's known all along that electricity will do her kitchen and household tasks SAFER, BETTER, CLEANER, MORE EFFICIENTLY AND CHEAPER—known that, unlike other things, the AVERAGE cost of her electricity has been steadily coming down as the pennies at the left show.

LISTEN, WORLD!

—By Elsie Robinson
Registered U. S. Patent Office

"LEST WE FORGET"
All this talk about the soldiers' Bill of Rights—these glowing tributes and these generous promises—I listen, then I wonder. And my mind goes back.

Nine men stood around a steaming pot in the littered lot back of a Washington, D.C. garage. The steam stank but the men did not seem to care. They did not talk nor move. They simply slouched and waited. You could not tell their ages, their faces were so masked by weariness and filth. Their lax, gray flesh and trailing rags were rancid with caked sweat. The face crawled plainly on their matted hair. Often their eyes were lifeless, blank as tramped dirt. No hope moved in them. Only brute hunger as they watched that pot.

A man stooped down and stirred, then lifted something shapeless from the pot. Sickened, I pointed—asked. "Mud turtle, ma'am," one slouching scarecrow said. "First grub we fellows have had these last two days. Yester, we're part of this here Bonus Army Gang. We've come clear from the coast to ask for our back pay that they promised we could have. But folks is scared. They bang the door plumb in our faces if we ask for take scraps. I guess they clear forgot the called us heroes yesterday. Mud turtles ain't very fancy chuk, but we ain't choosey now. Men gotta eat."

That Bonus Army Gang—do you remember now? I do. I wrote the horror of it in those shameful weeks I saw the men who'd helped to save the world, herded like swine on Anacostia flats where Washington sewers drained. Saw 50,000 of them gathered at one time, living in fetid shelters made of cardboard, old tin cans and rags. Saw them come meekly, asking such small rights we grant to every voter in the land. The right to march and carry their torn flag down past the White House which they felt was home. Heard them refused and saw the blank surprise, the slow despair down in their eyes. Babies were born on Anacostia flats. And babies died, their week-old stomachs cut to shreds by the cracked corn which was the only food this nation would provide for mothers without milk. Men chewed on bark and grass. Men washed their unhealed war wounds in the sewer drains and covered them again with bloody strips.

OUR FLESH CRAWLS AT THE HORROR IN THE GERMAN PRISON CAMPS. YET THERE ON ANACOSTIA WE WROUGHT AS FOUL A SHAME AS ANY NAZIS, AGAINST THE BOYS WE'D CROWNED AND KISSED A YEAR BEFORE.

I listen to the glowing promises today, I listen—and I think. Will these boys too come back from Europe and Japan to face the same cruel breaking of the faith.

New Program For Farm Bound Vets Announced

Baltimore, May 23. (P)—A new program of aid to farm-bound returning veterans was outlined to the Maryland Advisory Committee of the Farm Security Administration today by State FSA Director John D. Leatherman.

Leatherman said a program of four-year three per cent loans to veterans with farm experience and background would begin July 1. He emphasized that the aid would be available only to men with farm training who were unable to arrange suitable credit through banks and other normal sources.

Loans will be made by the 11 Maryland offices of the Farm Security Administration after approval of the applicant's character and experience by a committee of three local farmers. They also will study the farm the veteran proposes to buy, Leatherman said, to make sure it long-time earning capacity justifies the purchase price.

The new loans, approved by Congress this spring, will cover the entire purchase price and necessary repairs.

No estimate of the probable number of loans in the state was available but Dr. T. B. Symons, director of extension service at the University of Maryland and a member of the State Advisory Committee, said the small amount of farmland currently available at reasonable prices would limit the number of loans.

Dan Culpin Gets His Second Wind

Dan Culpin got his plowing done in record time this year. He was sitting on his porch, enjoying a well-deserved glass of beer, while Bob Wirts, his neighbor, still had over an acre to go.

It burned Bob up, seeing Dan relaxed while he worked. So he'd stop and have a glass of cider—and make out that he was in no hurry anyway.

"And that was the trouble," Dan explained to me. "I kept on going till I got my second wind; and saved my rest until the job

Writes Spanish Play

Miss Inez Johnson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James T. J., where Miss Johnson is supervisor of elementary schools.

Armando Pesantes, consul of Ecuador at New York, was guest of honor at the presentation.

The play, "El Esposo Fiel" ("The Faithful Husband") took place in Sangolqui, Ecuador, where Senor Pesantes, the guest of honor, was born and reared. The play was in three scenes.

Miss Johnson visited Ecuador several years ago where she studied the native tempo and pronunciations of the Spanish language as spoken there and observed the customs of Ecuadorians.

The consul spoke briefly to the children and their audience following the play to say that he was pleasantly astonished at the "perfection of the Spanish spoken by the children and their characters in the play."

Preakness Day Purse Jackpot May Set Record

Horsemen Will Collect Minimum of $160,000 in Four Stakes

By JOHN F. CHANDLER

BALTIMORE, May 23 (AP) — A jackpot expected to pay off a minimum of $160,000 in perhaps the richest stake day of American turf history will be dangling from the end of a Maryland Jockey Club rainbow at old Pimlico on Preakness day, June 16, and the scramble for top prizes will be terrific.

Not only will the purse be the largest of all time, but the four big stakes offered will bring together the cream of the turf world, what with the top two-year-olds contesting in the Pimlico Nursery, the finest of the three-year-olds going in the famed Preakness, with the best of the fillies fighting it out in the Oaks; and the crack handicap horses meeting in the Dixie.

With good weather attendance and betting records are expected to top at the historic race course.

The four big stakes will offer approximately $80,000 gross for the Preakness; $30,000 added for the Dixie; $20,000 added for the Pimlico Oaks; $5,000 added for the Nursery. And to make it so much better, the Jennings handicap, a $5,000-added entry, also will be run that single day of racing. Then, there are three overnight events at $2,500 each.

Nominations for all but the Preakness will close June 1. Additional fees from actual starters will raise the purses too. Already the actual Preakness purse is better than $83,000 and the starting fee for each horse will be $500. A big field is predicted and with fourteen going the crowd would be more than $90,000. Entries already have closed for the Preakness with seventy-one nominations.

At Belmont Park, N. Y., on Sept. 14, 1939, approximately $155,000 was distributed, the largest a $105,730 lump of "sugar" to Harry Payne Whitney's Whichone, winner of the futurity. On the same day at the Long Island oval, Arc Light captured the $35,000 Grand National steeplechase, and Diavolo took the $10,600 Jockey Club cup.

When F. M. Alger, Jr.'s Azucar won the first Santa Anita handicap at Arcadia, Calif., Feb. 23, 1935, the net purse was $108,400, a new world's record. However, in 1941, the last year the California classic was run, the purse total for eight races came to approximately $135,000. The 1935 purse total was about $3,000 less.

FRANK NILAND

The LaSalle High Explorers, who shattered their losing streak Tuesday when they upset the Fort Hill High Explorers, 5-4, kept the ball rolling yesterday by polishing off Hyndman (Pa.) high trossers, 5-2, at Community park.

The victory, which enabled the Explorers to climb out of the conference cellar, also gave Brother Justin's crew revenge for a 5-0 shutout at Hyndman earlier in the season.

Frank Niland went the route on the mound for the Explorers to rack up his first victory against one setback. The triumph was doubly sweet to Niland, who was the losing hurler in the previous meeting.

LaSalle lost no time entering the scoring column, pushing across a pair of markers in the first inning when Frank Hiner walked and stole second, John Esposito drove out the first of two triples, Joe Langan walked but was picked off a second and Tommy Geatz singled with Esposito being tagged out at home. Geatz stole second and third and reached the payoff platter on Stanley Brooks's error.

The Explorers clinched the game in the third when Esposito banged out his second triple after Hiner had reached first on George Cook's error.

Joe Becker's single and stolen base, followed by Joe Dorsey's one-baser, gave the Explorers their fourth counter in the fourth inning. In the sixth, Geatz poled a home run to deep center with Robert Bryant, Hyndman outfielder, misjudging the ball.

Ray Evans, who started on the slab for Hyndman despite a charley horse, pitched to the first two La-Salle batters and then was relieved by John Waltman. Evans, who left the game with the score 1-0 in the Explorers' favor, was charged with his second defeat against one victory.

Coach Lloyd Keller's Pennsylvanians registered both of their runs in the fourth. Brooks singled, Hiner walked, both runners advanced on a wild pitch, Bryant walked to fill the bases and Raymon Phillip singled. Bryant was thrown out. Hiner to Esposito, after Brooks and Waltman had scored.

Tomorrow afternoon, the unbeaten Allegany High Campers will attempt to nail the conference championship by turning back the resurgent Explorers at 4 o'clock at Community park. In tomorrow's other clash, Fort Hill and Hyndman will meet at Hyndman. The box:

Recomendations made at a pre-tournament meeting in Chicago were incorporated into the proposed agreement assuring the lower class leagues of financial protection against any "invasion" of their circuits by the big timers.

The new draft scale, double by the existing price level, would call for a $15,000 payment for any player selected from the International, American Association or Pacific Coast League. There would be proportionate increases down through the Class B circuit.

Similar proposals have been made in the past at winter meetings of the national association, but they have been rejected or tabled by the majors.

Now that the pact, already executed several times, actually is expiring, the minors are ready to demand more consideration from the higher ups.

When the committee finishes its work, probably Friday, an invitation will be extended to the Major League Advisory council to arrange a joint meeting.

Thomas H. Richardson, chairman of the Executive committee, said no invitations had been extended to Commissioner Chandler to attend the current sessions as it was "purely a matter for the minors to decide among themselves."

It was likely Chandler might be asked to sit in on the joint conference with the majors when the pact is formally presented for consideration.

Bob Burns Will Direct Crosby Radio Program

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, May 23.—Because Bing Crosby is due to be away from his NBC program for a couple weeks playing a series of benefit golf matches with Bob Hope, Bob Burns is taking over the assignment Thursday night at 9. This will give Bob a busy evening, for he has his own show at 7:30, with a repeat at 9:30.

Guest in the Bing stanza is to be Victor Borge, Danish comedian, who actually uses a piano in his act.

Debate on "Are We Solving America's Race Problem?" comes to America's Town Meeting on the Blue at 8:30 as the broadcast originates in New York city. The arguments will be carried forward by the usual panel of four, two on each side of the question.

Herbert Marshall, soon to return to the air with his Man Called X as another summer replacement on NBC, will make a guest appearance for CBS at 8 in the weekly Suspense. He'll do a mystery-drama "My Own Murderer."

Music of the New World, NBC at 11:30, is saluting Los Angeles under the direction of Henri Nosco. The program is to include selections from Hollywood movie productions.

Norman J. Clark, Beall Student, Earns College Scholarship in Contest

Award Made by Pepsi-Cola Company; Four County Students Given Honorable Mention

A Beall high school student whose aspiration is to become an aeronautical engineer yesterday received encouragement toward this goal in life when he was advised that he was the winner of a four-year college scholarship as a result of contests conducted in schools throughout the country on April 16 under the sponsorship of the Pepsi-Cola Company.

Norman Johnson Clark, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Clark, of 105 Armstrong street, Frostburg, was one of the two Maryland high school students to be chosen for a scholarship at a college of his own choice. He was among the three girls and two boys who took the scholarship examination at Beall high school last month.

Father Is Kelly Employee

During a conference with Charles L. Kopp, county superintendent of schools, and Richard T. Rizer, county high school supervisor, yesterday at the board of education building, Clark, whose father is inspector on the shell line at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, said he was undecided on the college he will attend after he is graduated from Beall high school. Among the schools in which he is interested, however, are the University of Maryland, Carnegie Tech, Duke University and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Discussing the scholarship examination at Beall high, Clark said he answered approximately 130 questions in about one hour and thirty minutes. The test was limited to three hours. He stated that building model planes is his hobby and he has collected much aviation material, including several hundred magazines which he started reading and saving since he was a little tot.

A coincidence is that his sister, Miss Evelyn Clark, now a sophomore at Western Maryland college, Westminster, won the Senatorial scholarship from Allegany county two years ago. Another sister, Helen, is employed by the Reynolds Metal Company, Richmond, Va.

Thirty students of five Allegany county high schools took the examination—ten at Allegany, nine at Fort Hill, five at Beall and three each at Bruce and Central. Members of each senior class selected the contestants by electing five per cent of the members in their class as students whom they thought would be most likely to succeed after being graduated from high school.

Four Earn Certificates

Three Allegany students, Ursula Bucki, Donald E. Paape and William Lawrence Wood, and one Bruce high senior, Hazel Mae Steidling, were given honorable mention and will be presented certificates of merit.

The contest called for the awarding of two scholarships in each of the forty-eight states and nineteen scholarships are assigned to negro students. A total of 13,491 seniors of 3,711 schools took the examination in the nationwide contest.

The scholarship offers:

Full tuition, but not bed and room, for four college years (thirty-six calendar months) paid directly to the college.

Certain required fees as arranged between the college and national administration board for Pepsi-Cola scholarships, and paid directly to the college.

Traveling expenses at the rate of three cents a mile for one round trip from home to college each school year, provided the distance to college is 150 miles or more. The fare to college will be paid shortly after the student arrives at college and the return fare just before the end of the school year.

Provides $25 Monthly

Twenty-five dollars per month for normal thirty-six months of college, paid directly to the scholarship holders at the start of each month.

The scholarship may be withdrawn if entrance to college is delayed.

Exemption is made for scholarship holders who enter the armed services. In such a case the scholarship held is available for the winner if he enters college or resumes his college work within six months after discharge. A veteran scholar-

Long Distance

Rates Are Cut

Ellerslie Man Held For Hyndman Officials

New long-distance telephone rates, which are expected to result in an estimated reduction of $21,000,000 in America's annual telephone bill but which will apply only to calls over distances of 790 miles or more, will go into effect July 1, according to information received yesterday by Howard M. Smith, manager of the Cumberland office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

The new rates are not based on any simple, uniform percentage cut but vary with the distance and type of service. The figure of 790 miles as the starting point for the reductions was selected also through negotiation.

Rates are under the exclusive jurisdiction of the Federal Communications Commission, which has jurisdiction over inter-state rates only. Cuts, depending on distance and type of call, run from ten to thirty-seven per cent.

Listed below are a few points showing how the reduction on long distance rates affects calls made from Cumberland. The rates are for three minutes and do not include federal taxes:

Station - to - station day calls: Cumberland to Dallas, new, $2.10; old, $2.40; to Denver, Colo., new, $2.30; old, $2.90; to Houston, Texas, new, $2.15; old, $2.50; to New Orleans, new, $1.95; old, $2.10; to San Francisco, new, $3.50; old, $3.75; to Portland, Ore., new, $2.45; old, $3.75.

Wastepaper Drive Reaches Twenty-five Tons, Smith Reports

Cumberland's monthly wastepaper drive reached twenty-five tons yesterday with a collection of thirteen tons in North Cumberland, W. Donald Smith, salaried committee chairman, reported last night.

Two tons of paper was collected from outlying districts on Monday, the opening day, and an additional ten tons was picked up Tuesday on the West Side.

The collection today will cover the section south of Baltimore avenue and Baltimore street to Oldtown road and includes Johnson Heights and Mapleside.

When Wilson and Fisher returned to the court house, however, word of their mistake spread rapidly, the law was called off and apologies to Miss Bonig settled the matter.

What puzzles Wilson is how the keys to Thompson's car worked with Miss Bonig.

Dr. Nathan Drake To Address Local Chemical Society

Research Chemist Will Discuss Malaria Problem Friday Night

Dr. Nathan L. Drake, chairman of the chemistry department of the University of Maryland and former editor-in-chief of "Organic Syntheses," will discuss "The Malaria Problem" at the monthly meeting of the Western Maryland section of the American Chemical Society to be held in the ballroom of the Fort Cumberland hotel at 8 p. m. Friday.

Dr. Drake was scheduled to address the group in February, but the meeting at that time was canceled.

For the past few years, Dr. Drake has actively engaged in research on war problems under the Committee on Medical Research and the National Defense Research committee, and in his address Friday night he will cover the seriousness of the malaria situation, what has been done in the way of scientific research to remedy it, and ways and means of preventing and controlling the disease.

Harvard Graduate

Receiving his bachelor of arts degree from Harvard university in 1920, Dr. Drake continued his studies there and subsequently received his master of arts degree in 1929 and his doctor of philosophy degree in 1932.

In 1924 Dr. Drake became associated with the Malankrodt Chemical works as research chemist and later became a member of the staff of Proctor and Gamble.

Dr. Drake transferred to education in 1936 when he became professor of industrial chemistry at the University of Maryland. Two years later he became professor of organic chemistry and served in that capacity until 1940 when he was promoted to chairman of the chemistry department.

To Be Entertained

Prior to the lecture, Dr. Drake will be entertained at a dinner at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club by officers and committee members of the society as well as friends and former students.

The public is invited to the lecture at the hotel.

A second old-fashioned barn-raising will be held on Saturday to help complete construction of the livestock marketing building of the Cumberland Stock Yards, Incorporated, Arthur P. Hoffa, president, announced yesterday.

The building is being erected at Triple Lakes on McMullen highway, about one-half mile from Cresap town toward Rawlings, and a barn raising party was held on May 5 to get the construction well underway.

Sixty men volunteered their services at the first barn raising, and Hoffa said if a similar number of volunteers turn out on Saturday, the building may be completed.

Big Job Remains

The job to be done Saturday includes completion of sheeting and siding and putting on the roof.

Barton has sent out letters requesting farmers who are interested in getting the building completed and a livestock market established to come to the site on Saturday.

Farmers, cattlemen, farm hands and farm boys as well as the public are invited to be present.

Hoffa pointed out that there is a grove at the building site suitable for picnics and he suggested that farmers bring their families and lunch along. Coffee and milk will be furnished, he said.

Work Starts Early

Work is scheduled to begin at 7 a.m. and persons interested in helping are invited to come as early as they wish and stay as long as they care to.

Hoffa suggested that anyone planning to help should bring his own hammer and saw and, if possible, a square and pencil.

Child's Finger Is Injured by Lawnmower

A two and one-half year old Little Orleans child, Norman Shipley, was admitted to Allegany hospital yesterday at 4 p. m. for treatment of a severe laceration of the fourth finger of the left hand. Attached were told the child's finger was caught in a lawnmower.

Merie Robb, 2, of 302 South Smallwood street, was treated in Allegany hospital yesterday about 1 p. m. for a laceration of the forehead. Attached were told the child struck his head against a door.

"Stolen" Car Is Borrowed in Error

There have been numerous stories about victims of mistaken identity, but the latest one concerns William A. Wilson and G. Walter Fisher, employees in the office of the clerk of circuit court, who erred in the ownership of similar automobiles.

Wilson and Fisher were dispatched to the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant yesterday on official business, but since Wilson's car was in a garage for repairs, he borrowed the keys to the automobile of Alvan C. Thompson, deputy tax collector, for the short trip.

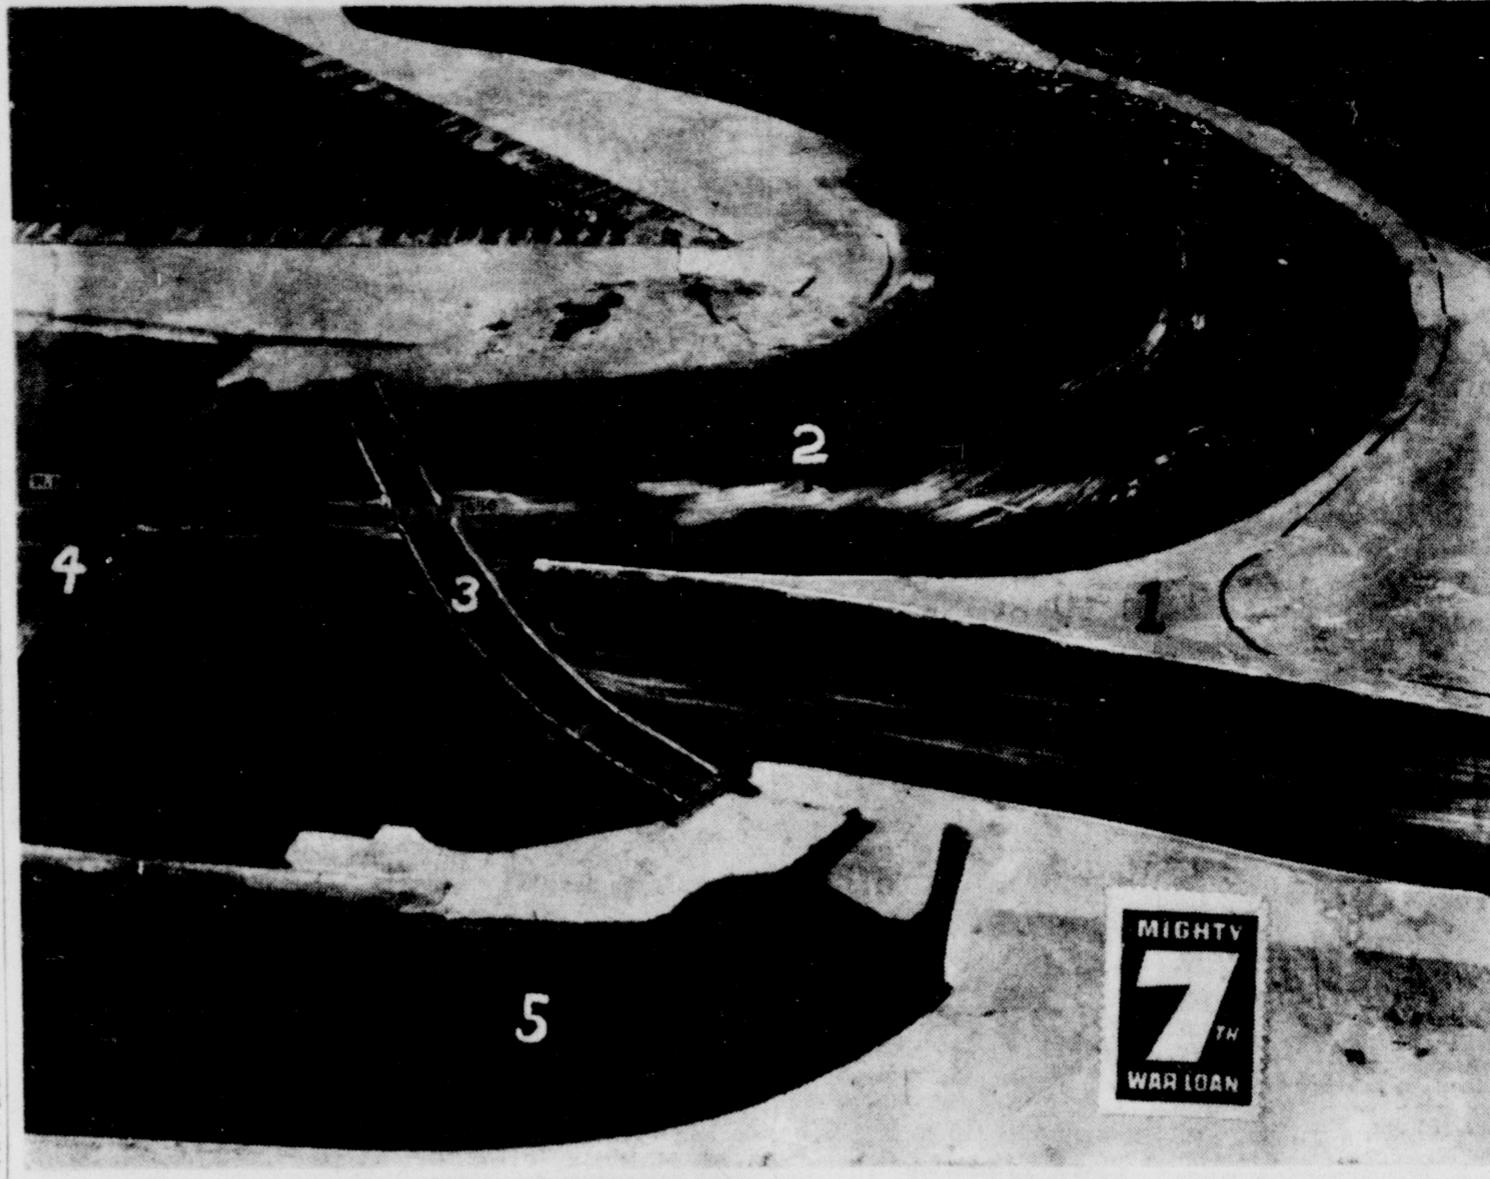

Certain that he knew Thompson's car from seeing it every day, Wilson got into the machine along with Fisher and proceeded to the local plant where they completed their business and returned to the court house, all in less than an hour.

As they drove up to the seat of justice on Washington street, Wilson promptly spotted Thompson's car parked near the building and realized he had been driving someone else's machine.

In the meantime, Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary of the Associated Charities, who happened to be in the court house on business, noticed that her automobile had disappeared and immediately reported it to Sheriff David M. Steele. He in turn notified state and city police to be on the lookout for the vehicle and the minions of the law were scouring the city and county in an effort to locate the missing car.

When Wilson and Fisher returned to the court house, however, word of their mistake spread rapidly, the law was called off and apologies to Miss Bonig settled the matter.

The collection today will cover the section south of Baltimore avenue and Baltimore street to Oldtown road and includes Johnson Heights and Mapleside.

Jap Prisoner Is "Well and Safe," Mother Learns

Luther MacKenzie Sends Two Cards from Camp at Fukuoka, Japan

A Cumberland serviceman who was captured on Corregidor in May, 1942, and who was held prisoner on Luzon until being transferred to a prison camp in Japan about ten months ago is well and safe and hopes to be home soon, according to two cards which his mother received from him yesterday.
